Having fun, learning together.

Curious, caring, creative and courageous.

PSHCE lessons are taught each week and the whole school follows the same themes. Some lessons involve cross curricular links which still clearly link to a PSHCE learning objective.

There is a whole school approach each term to the PSHCE Curriculum:

Autumn Term: Relationships

Pupils develop their understanding of families and friendships, safe relationships and respecting ourselves and others.

Spring: Living in the Wider World

This focus gives pupils an opportunity to explore the concept of what it means to belong to a community. They also find out about the importance of media literacy and digital resilience in an ever-changing and fast paced digital world. A study of money and work also allows children to develop a future-orientated perspective as they identify their own strengths and talents and how this could translate to future careers.

Summer: Health and Wellbeing

There are many opportunities for cross-curricular links within the unit on healthy lifestyles including Science and PE. Pupils learn about the importance of physical health and mental wellbeing and how this impacts their quality of life now and in the future. We aim to develop an understanding of how we grow and change and those healthy choices now and, in the future can affect overall health.

The unit of study on safety includes medicine safety, road safety and online safety. There is a clear progression from Early Years to Year 4 as the children are exposed to more risks in their everyday lives. Curricular work is documented in PSHCE floor books and includes a variety of photographs, artwork, posters and pupil responses.

EAL and Social Disadvantaged pupils (FSM and PP)

When delivering lesson on PSHCE staff are sensitive to the needs and backgrounds of all our pupils. Cultural diversity is respected and celebrated through our No Outsiders books. Language barriers are taken into consideration in group and class discussions and differentiated for in written work as and when required.

Care and sensitivity are taken when discussing subjects such as healthy eating and healthy lifestyles. An awareness of a variety of socio-economic backgrounds is crucial when delivering a PSHCE curriculum that is inclusive and supportive of all pupils.

Transitions

Transition arrangements are well embedded in our school ethos. Good communication between feeder nurseries and middle schools ensures pupils are well prepared as they move from or onto another educational setting. Our SEND coordinator works with many external agencies to support our pupils with additional needs with extended transition arrangements.

Personal Development

The spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of pupils is fostered through:

- PSHE curriculum – Personal responsibility, boundaries, rules, safety, democracy
- RE Curriculum – Equality, Diversity, Respect, Tolerance
- Humanities Curriculum- National & global citizenship, cultural diversity
- Literacy Curriculum- Variety of texts, authors and genres
- Assemblies – Values and external visitors
- Class/ School Rules- Rule of Law
- Pupil responsibilities and jobs- Personal responsibility
- No Outsiders - timetabled texts in each key stage

Gathering evidence will include:

- Evaluating the PSHE curriculum in key stages. What works well? Looking at floor books and discussion with staff and pupils each term.
- Meeting with Green Team and School Council. Do they know how to gather their classmates' ideas? Do they have time and opportunity within the classroom to do this?
- Discussion with staff on assembly themes. Do we need to revisit any themes or include new ones to reflect the particular needs of our pupils?
- Gather Pupil Voice. Summary report to be given to governors.
- Anti-bullying week – Gather pupils' work and photos for PSHCE display board
- Use social media (Twitter) and school newsletters to update parents and the local community on school initiatives and links to PSHCE
- Work collaboratively with Healthy Schools Co-Ordinator and Mental Health Lead – A Watson (EYFS)
